PART XII. THE COLONIES.

GOVERNORS AND BISHOPS OF THE COLONIES AND OTHER DEPENDENCIES OF THE BRITISH EMPIRE.

INTRODUCTION.

THIS section will be found much more complete than in the former editions. As far as possible a complete list of the governors of every colony is furnished, and lists of the colonial bishops have been added.

There are monographs on most of the more important colonies; but for general information on the colonies as a whole the best authority is the official "Colonial List," published annually. This useful work has been of great assistance in the compilation of this section, the lists of governors having been in every case collated therewith, and, where necessary, completed therefrom. The Isle of Man, Heligoland, and the Channel Islands are not strictly colonies, but are included in this section as being that most applicable to them.

The colonies are divided into ecclesiastical provinces and dioceses, much in the same manner as in England, but the bishops hardly possess the same powers. Sir Travers Twiss, the eminent civilian, in his article "Bishop," in the Encyclopædia Britannica, ninth edition, says on the subject of colonial bishops:—

> The first colonial bishopric of the Church of England was that of Nova Scotia, founded in 1787, since which time various colonial bishoprics have been established, some of which were constituted by Letters Patent of the Crown only, whilst others have been confirmed by Acts of the imperial or colonial legislatures. With regard to those bishoprics which have been constituted by Letters Patent of the Crown only, where the bishopric has been established in a Crown colony, the bishop is legally entitled to exercise the jurisdiction conferred upon him by the Letters Patent; but where the bishopric has been established in a colony possessing at the time an independent legislature, the bishop is not entitled to exercise such jurisdiction unless it has been confirmed to him by an imperial or colonial statute. The report of the judicial committee of the Privy Council in the case of the bishop of Natal (Moore's "Privy Council Reports," N.S., iii., p. 115) is an exposition of the law on this subject. On the other hand, where bishoprics have been constituted by Letters Patent of the Crown in pursuance of imperial statutes, as was the case of the East Indian bishoprics, or where bishoprics constituted by Letters Patent have subsequently been confirmed or recognised by colonial statutes, the bishop's jurisdiction is complete ; otherwise his authority is only pastoral or spiritual. The practice adopted by the Crown, since the decision of the judicial committee in the case of the bishop of Natal revealed the invalidity of the Letters Patent granted to many colonial bishops, has been to grant licences to the archbishop of Canterbury to consecrate bishops for the colonies without any definite diocese, and without any authority to exercise coercive jurisdiction. The Crown has also revoked the Letters Patent erecting Gibraltar into a bishop's see, and the last appointed bishop has been consecrated under a licence from the Crown, and is a titular bishop, having only consensual authority in that colony.

The following are the principal Acts of Parliament bearing on the appointment of colonial bishops:—

26 Geo. III. cap. 84 (1786).
3 & 4 Vict. cap. 33 (1840).
5 & 6 Vict. cap. 6 (1842).
15 & 16 Vict. cap. 52 (1852).
16 & 17 Vict. cap. 49 (1853).
37 & 38 Vict. cap. 77 (1874).

The Orders in Council, or Letters Patent, under which the various colonial bishoprics were constituted will be found noted under each.

The following list of colonial provinces and dioceses is taken from Crockford's Clerical Directory, where each bishop's antecedents will be found noted.

I. COLONIES, &c.—EUROPE.

ISLE OF MAN.

This island is situated in the Irish Sea. Its early history is uncertain, but it appears to have belonged first to Scotland, then to Denmark, then to Norway, and then again to Scotland. Early in the fifteenth century it was seized by Henry IV., who granted it to Sir John Stanley, the ancestor of the earls of Derby, in whom it continued until the death, in 1735, of James, the tenth earl, without issue. It then passed to the duke of Athole, as heir general of James, the seventh earl, and continued in the Athole family until their rights were bought up by the Crown at various times from 1765 to 1825.

The Isle of Man now constitutes the whole of the diocese of Sodor and Man.

THE CHANNEL ISLANDS,

COMPRISING

JERSEY, GUERNSEY, ALDERNEY, SARK, AND HERM.

These well-known Islands are the only portions of the old dukedom of Normandy still belonging to the British Crown. The islands were placed under the same governor until the reign of Henry VII., when two separate governors were appointed, one for Jersey and one for Guernsey and its dependencies, the smaller islands of Alderney, Sark, and Herm.

Besides the GOVERNOR the Crown appoints for each of the two principal islands a BAILIFF, who is the chief civil officer.

THE CHANNEL ISLANDS are under the ecclesiastical charge of the bishops of WINCHESTER.

MALTA.

The Island of Malta is situated in the Mediterranean Sea. In 1530 it was given by Charles V. of Spain to the Knights Hospitallers, who retained it till 1798, when it was taken by France. The British captured it in 1800, but by the Treaty of Amiens (1801–2) agreed to restore it to the knights. In consequence, however, of the threatening attitude of France, possession was retained, and it was ultimately guaranteed to Great Britain by the Treaty of Paris (1814).

Malta forms part of the diocese of Gibraltar.

CYPRUS.

Cyprus is a large island in the Mediterranean Sea. It has for some centuries belonged to Turkey, and still nominally forms part of the Ottoman Empire. By a treaty between England and Turkey, dated June 4, 1878, Cyprus was granted to England to be occupied and administered by that country so long as Batoum and Kars were retained by Russia.

The government of Cyprus is by high commissioners appointed under the Foreign Jurisdiction Acts (see list in Index to Statutes), and Order in Council dated Sept. 14, and gazetted Oct. 1, 1878.

II. COLONIES, &c.—ASIA.

CEYLON.

Ceylon is an island in the Indian Ocean. The Portuguese visited this island in 1505, and formed settlements there in 1517, but they were ousted by the Dutch about 1658. In 1795–6 the island was conquered by the British, who annexed it to the presidency of Madras. It was formally ceded to Great Britain at the Peace of Amiens (1801–2), and was then made a separate colony.

Ceylon constitutes the diocese of Colombo.

THE STRAITS SETTLEMENTS.

PRINCE OF WALES' ISLAND OR PENANG. MALACCA. SINGAPORE. CHRISTMAS ISLAND.

THE STRAITS SETTLEMENTS are on the west coast of the Malay Peninsula, and take their name from their situation in the Straits of Malacca. They comprise PRINCE OF WALES' ISLAND or PENANG, MALACCA, SINGAPORE, CHRISTMAS ISLAND, and some minor dependencies.

PRINCE OF WALES' ISLAND is the official name of the island popularly known as PENANG, or PULO-PENANG. The East India Company established a settlement here in 1786, which was in 1806 made a presidency of equal rank with Madras and Bombay.

MALACCA originally belonged to the Portuguese, who settled there in 1511. They were succeeded by the Dutch in 1641. The Dutch in their turn were dispossessed in 1795 by the British, who restored it in 1818. It was finally ceded by Holland to Great Britain by treaty in 1824.

The settlement of SINGAPORE consists of the island of that name and of a number of small adjacent islands. The English built a factory here in 1819, and acquired the islands by purchase in 1824.

In 1826 MALACCA and SINGAPORE were incorporated with the presidency of PENANG. The government remained at Penang until 1832, when it was removed to Singapore.

Under 21 & 22 Vict. c. 106 (1858), and 29 & 30 Vict. c. 115 (1866), and Letters Patent Feb. 2, 1867, G., PRINCE OF WALES' ISLAND, MALACCA, and SINGAPORE, with their dependencies, were separated from India and formed into an independent colony by the name of the STRAITS SETTLEMENTS.

THE COCOS or KEELING ISLANDS were transferred from Ceylon to the Straits Settlements by Letters Patent dated Feb. 1, 1886 (Feb. 3, G.), revoking Letters Patent of 10th Sept. 1878.

CHRISTMAS ISLAND was annexed to the Straits Settlements by Letters Patent, Jan. 9, 1889, G.

The territories forming the STRAITS SETTLEMENTS were formerly part of the diocese of CALCUTTA, but were in 1869 annexed to the diocese of LABUAN, and are now part of the diocese of SINGAPORE, LABUAN, and SARAWAK.

III.—COLONIES, &c.—AFRICA.

SOUTH AFRICAN COLONIES.

CAPE OF GOOD HOPE. NATAL. BRITISH BECHUANALAND. BRITISH KAFFRARIA. BASUTOLAND. GRIQUALAND, EAST AND WEST.

THE division and government of the British possessions in SOUTH AFRICA have been subject to many changes, a detailed and very accurate account of which will be found in the official Colonial List.

The CAPE OF GOOD HOPE or CAPE COLONY originally belonged to the Dutch, who settled there about 1652 and retained it till 1795, when the British took possession of it in order to prevent its capture by the French. It was restored to the Dutch at the Peace of Amiens (1801–2), but on the renewal of hostilities between Great Britain and France it was again captured by the former in 1806, and finally ceded to this country in 1814. The district of Rode Valley was annexed to the Cape by Letters Patent, Aug. 2, 1887, G.

NATAL was originally colonized by a secession of Dutch Boers from Cape Colony. In Aug. 1843 it was proclaimed a British colony by the authorities at the Cape. In Aug. 1845 it was annexed as a district to Cape Colony, and in Nov. 1845 it was constituted a separate government under a lieutenant governor subordinate to the Cape. By Letters Patent, July 15, 1856, G., Natal was altogether separated from the Cape and constituted a separate colony.

BECHUANALAND was taken under British protection by convention of London dated Feb. 27, 1884, and on Sept. 30, 1885, part of that country was declared to be British territory under the name of British Bechuanaland, and the governor of the Cape was appointed its governor with a local administrator under him.

The acquisition of British Kaffraria was the result of the second and third Kaffir wars (1846–7 and 1850–3). It was at first treated as part of Cape Colony, but in 1861 it was declared a separate colony under a lieutenant governor, subordinate to the Cape. In 1865, under 28 & 29 Vict. cap. 5, British Kaffraria was reunited to the Cape, of which it now forms the two divisions of King Williamstown and East London.

Basutoland became British territory in March 1868, and was annexed to the Cape in Aug. 1871 under an Act of the Colonial Legislature. As from March 13, 1884, it was separated from the Cape and formed into a separate colony under a commissioner subordinate to the High Commissioner for South Africa.

Griqualand West was made British territory on Oct. 27, 1871, and a lieutenant governor appointed, April 2, 1873. It was annexed to the Cape under Colonial Act No. 39, of 1877, and proclamation dated Oct. 15, 1880. (See London Gazette of Jan. 25, 1881.)

The South African colonies are in the ecclesiastical province of Cape Town which province comprises the dioceses of Bloemfontein, formerly Orange River Free State.

Grahamstown.
Maritsburg, formerly Natal.
Pretoria.
St. Helena.
St. John's, Kaffraria.

DIOCESES OF CAPE TOWN AND GRAHAMSTOWN.

The bishopric of Cape Town, as originally constituted under Letters Patent, June 28, 1847, G., included the whole of Cape Colony and its dependencies and also St. Helena. By Letters Patent Nov. 23, 1853, G., the Cape portion of the diocese was divided into the separate bishoprics of Cape Town, Grahamstown, and Natal, and by other Letters Patent, Dec. 6, 1853, G., the bishop of Cape Town was made metropolitan to the other two sees. In 1873 the bishopric of St. John's, Kaffraria, was formed from part of that of Grahamstown. By Letters Patent, June 3, 1859, G., St. Helena was constituted a separate bishopric.

ST. HELENA.

St. Helena is an island in the South Atlantic Ocean, and whilst the route for India and Australia was round the Cape of Good Hope, more especially before the introduction of steam, most ships, both homeward and outward bound, called there for provisions and water. Since the opening of the Suez Canal its importance has somewhat declined.

The Island was discovered by the Portuguese, but was first colonized by the Dutch. It came into the possession of England in 1673, and was soon afterwards granted by Charles II. to the East India Company, by whom it was transferred to the Crown in 1833 under 3 & 4 Wm. IV. cap. 85, sec. 112. Prior to that date the governors of the island were appointed by the company, except during the detention of Napoleon Buonaparte from 1816 to 1821, when Sir Hudson Lowe was appointed governor by the Crown.

MAURITIUS.
SEYCHELLES ISLANDS. RODRIGUES.

The Island of Mauritius is in the Indian Ocean. It was discovered by the Portuguese in 1507, colonised by the Dutch in 1598, abandoned by them in 1710, taken possession of by the French in 1710, and captured by Great Britain in 1810.

Mauritius has a number of small dependencies, the principal of which are the Seychelles Islands and Rodrigues. These are governed by commissioners, who are subordinate to the governor of Mauritius. By Letters Patent, Jan. 2, 1889, G., fresh provision was made for the government of the Seychelles by an administrator.

Mauritius and its dependencies constitute the diocese of Mauritius.

WEST AFRICA SETTLEMENTS.

SIERRA LEONE. GAMBIA. GOLD COAST. LAGOS.

Sierra Leone was first taken possession of by the British Government in 1787, and was in 1791 granted by charter to the Sierra Leone Company. In 1807 it was transferred back to Great Britain.

Gambia or the Gambia Settlements were discovered by the Portuguese. From 1588 to 1807 it was only a trading settlement, but in the latter year it was placed under the governor of Sierra Leone. In 1843 it was formed into an independent colony under 6 & 7 Vict. cap. 13.

The Gold Coast Colony, formerly the Gold Coast Settlements, were originally under the government of trading companies, but were in 1843 taken over by the Crown under 6 & 7 Vict. cap. 13, followed by Order in Council dated Sept. 3, 1844 (Sept 6, G.).

Lagos was ceded to Great Britain by king Docemo by treaty dated Aug. 16 and gazetted Sept. 20, 1861, and together with its dependencies was created a distinct settlement by Letters Patent, Mar. 5, 1862, G.

By Letters Patent, Feb. 19, 1866, G., Sierra Leone, Gambia, the Gold Coast Settlements, and Lagos were united under the title of the West Africa Settlements.

By Letters Patent, July 24, 1874, G., the Gold Coast Settlements and Lagos were severed from the West Africa Settlements and formed into the Gold Coast Colony.

By Letters Patent, Dec. 17, 1874, G., and June 17, 1885, G., the West Africa Settlements were reconstituted by the union of Sierra Leone and Gambia.

By Letters Patent, Jan. 13, 1886, G., Lagos was separated from the Gold Coast territory and made a separate colony.

By Letters Patent, Nov. 28, 1888, Sierra Leone and Gambia were separated and became once more separate colonies. The title of West African Settlements then ceased.

All the West African colonies are in the diocese of Sierra Leone.

IV.—COLONIES, &c.—NORTH AMERICA.

DOMINION OF CANADA.

UPPER AND LOWER CANADA. ONTARIO. QUEBEC. NOVA SCOTIA. NEW BRUNSWICK. CAPE BRETON. MANITOBA. RED RIVER SETTLEMENT. RUPERT'S LAND. N W. TERRITORIES. BRITISH COLUMBIA. VANCOUVER ISLAND. PRINCE EDWARD ISLAND.

CANADA was discovered by Sebastian Cabot about 1497. It was taken possession of by the French in 1525; but it was not until 1608–9 that Quebec, the first settlement, was founded. In 1759 Quebec was captured by the British under General Wolfe, in 1763 the rest of the country was ceded to Great Britain by the Treaty of Paris, and in that year, and again in 1774, provision was made for the government of the colony. In 1783, on the recognition of the independence of the United States, a considerable part of the Canadian territory was given up to that Republic.

In 1791, under 31 Geo. III. cap. 31, Canada was divided into (1) Upper Canada, now Ontario, and (2) Lower Canada, now Quebec. These provinces were again united, in 1840, under 3 & 4 Vict. cap. 35, by proclamation made under Order in Council dated Aug. 10, and gazetted Aug. 14, 1840.

NOVA SCOTIA was discovered by John Cabot about 1497, colonised by the French in 1598, and, with the exception of its occupation by the English from 1627 to 1632, it was retained by the French until its cession to Great Britain at the Peace of Utrecht in 1714.

New Brunswick orginally belonged to the French, being called by them New France. It was ceded to Great Britain in 1763, and constituted a separated colony in 1785, having up to that time been annexed to Nova Scotia.

Cape Breton originally belonged to France. It was captured by the British forces in 1745, restored to France at the Peace of Aix-la-Chapelle in 1748, again captured by Great Britain in 1758, and ceded to that country by the Treaty of Paris in 1763. It was then united to Nova Scotia, separated from it in 1784, and again united thereto in 1820.

Manitoba, or, rather, the nucleus of that province, was formerly known as the Red River Settlement. It originally belonged to the Hudson's Bay Company as part of Rupert's Land, and was granted by them in 1811 to Thos., 5th Earl of Selkirk, who founded a settlement on the banks of the Red River in 1813. It was repurchased by the Hudson's Bay Company in 1835. By 31 & 32 Vict. cap. 105 (1867) the company surrendered their rights over Rupert's Land to the Crown, and, under this Act and the Canadian Acts 33 Vict. cap. 3 (1870), and 44 Vict. cap. 14 (1881), the province of Manitoba, as now constituted, was formed.

The North-West Territories were created by proclamation of Oct. 7, 1876, under Canadian Act 38 Vict. cap. 49 (1875). This Act was amended by Canadian Act 43 Vict. cap. 25 (1880). The North-West Territories consist of such portions of Rupert's Land and the old North-Western Territory as were not included in Manitoba.

British Columbia was constituted a colony in 1858 under 21 & 22 Vict. cap. 99 (1858).

Vancouver Island was discovered in 1592, but the first regular settlement was by the Hudson's Bay Company in 1843. The island was secured to Great Britain by treaty in 1846, and was constituted a colony in 1849.

Vancouver Island was united to British Columbia in 1866 under 29 & 30 Vict. cap. 67 (1866).

Prince Edward Island was discovered in 1497, and colonised by the French shortly afterwards. It was taken from them by Great Britain in 1758, annexed to Nova Scotia in 1763, and made a separate colony in 1770.

The federation of the Canadian colonies, under the title of the Dominion of Canada, is authorised by Acts of the Imperial Parliament, 30 Vict. cap 3 (1867), 31 & 32 Vict. cap. 105 (1868), and by Orders in Council or proclamations thereunder; and by Colonial Acts 33 Vict. cap. 3 (1870), 30 Vict. cap. 49 (1875), and 43 Vict. cap. 25 (1880).

The dominion was first formed by proclamation dated May 22 and gazetted May 24, 1867, and then consisted of the provinces of Upper Canada (then re-named Ontario), Lower Canada (then re-named Quebec), Nova Scotia, and New Brunswick. Rupert's Land and the N. W. Territory, afterwards re-divided into the N. W. Territories and Manitoba, were added on July 15, 1870, under Order in Council dated June 23, and gazetted June 24, 1870. British Columbia was added on July 20, 1871, under Order in Council dated May 16, and gazetted May 19, 1871. Prince Edward Island was added on July 1, 1873, by Order in Council dated June 26, and gazetted July 4, 1873. By Order in Council dated July 31, 1880 (not gazetted in England), such parts of the British possessions in North America (except Newfoundland) as had not previously joined the dominion were annexed to it.

The Dominion of Canada forms the ecclesiastical provinces of Canada, which comprises the dioceses of

Algoma,
Fredericton,
Huron,
Montreal,
Niagara,
Nova Scotia,
Ontario,
Quebec,
Toronto;

and of Rupert's Land, which comprises the dioceses of

Athabasca (now Mackenzie River and S. Athabasca),
Moosonee,
Rupert's Land,
Saskatchewan.

NEWFOUNDLAND.

Newfoundland was discovered in 1497, and was formally taken possession of by the English in 1578. Their right was, however, not admitted by the fishing fleets of the other nations frequenting the coast, and it was not until the Treaty of Utrecht in 1713 that Newfoundland was formally ceded to the British.

Newfoundland is the only part of British North America not included in the Dominion of Canada.

V.—COLONIES, &c.—AUSTRALASIA.

New South Wales, formerly known as Port Jackson, was the foundation of the Australian colonies, and it is from the subsequent division of this territory and from the colonization of other parts of the Australian continent and the adjacent islands that the present Australasian colonies have arisen. These colonies now comprise :—

New South Wales and Norfolk Island,
Victoria,
Queensland,
South Australia,
Western Australia,
Tasmania (formerly Van Diemen's land),
New Zealand,
Fiji Islands,
British New Guinea.

The first discovery of the Australian Continent is involved in some doubt, and still more dispute. It is said to have been known to the Portuguese early in the sixteenth century. During the seventeenth century both Spanish and Dutch navigators made voyages of discovery, some records of which still linger in "Torres" Straits, "Van Diemen's" Land, and other places; but it was not until the voyages of captain Cook (1769–77) that any practical result was obtained. In 1788 the first attempt at colonization was made, Port Jackson (now Sydney, N.S.W.) being founded as a convict settlement by the British, who have been allowed to take undisputed possession of the entire continent, as well as of the neighbouring islands of Tasmania and New Zealand.

The Australasian colonies form the ecclesiastical provinces of Sydney, which comprises the dioceses of—

Adelaide,
Ballarat,
Bathurst,
Brisbane,
Goulburn,
Grafton and Armidale,
Melbourne,
Newcastle,
North Queensland,
Perth, W. A.,
Riverina,
Sydney,
Tasmania;

and of New Zealand, which comprises the dioceses of

Auckland, formerly New Zealand,
Christ Church, N.Z.,
Dunedin.
Melanesia,
Nelson,
Waiapu,
Wellington,

NEW SOUTH WALES.

This is the oldest of the Australian colonies, a convict settlement having been established at Port Jackson in 1788. In earlier times the governors of New South Wales were also appointed governors over the other colonies, which were placed under the direct control of lieutenant-governors only.

GOVERNORS OF NEW SOUTH WALES.

A few of the earlier names are taken from the Colonial List.

JAMAICA.

JAMAICA is the largest and most important of the British West Indian possessions. It was discovered by Columbus in 1494, and taken possession of by Spain; captured by the English in 1655, and formally ceded to England by Spain in 1670 by the Treaty of Madrid.

THE TURKS AND CAICOS ISLANDS were annexed to Jamaica by 36 & 37 Vict. cap. 6 (1873), and Order in Council dated Aug. 4, 1873. They had previously been made subordinate thereto by Letters Patent, Nov. 21, 1848, G. Morant Cays and Pedro Cays were annexed by Letters Patent dated Mar. 13, and gazetted Mar. 14, 1882.

The island now forms the entire diocese of Jamaica.

BRITISH HONDURAS OR BELIZE.

THIS COLONY is situate on the east coast of Central America, in the Caribbean Sea. It was discovered by Columbus in 1502, and the Spaniards claimed sovereignty over it, but did not colonise it. The early government was of a very primitive kind, the settlers practically managing their own affairs. In 1786, superintendents were appointed by the British government, and, with an interval from 1790 to 1797, were continued until 1862, when a lieutenant-governor was appointed subordinate to Jamaica. By Letters Patent proclaimed Oct. 31, 1884, a governor was appointed, and the colony was thenceforward independent of Jamaica.

British Honduras is at present temporarily attached to the bishopric of Jamaica, but is to be shortly formed into a separate diocese, with its own bishop.

BRITISH GUIANA.
BERBICE, DEMERARA, ESSEQUIBO.

THESE SETTLEMENTS were first established by the Dutch West India Company in 1580. Afterwards, as the result of various wars, they were from time to time taken by Great Britain, France, and Holland.

Ultimately they were taken by Great Britain in 1803, and finally ceded to that country in 1814.

Prior to 1831, Demerara and Essequibo formed one colony, and Berbice another. In that year they were all united under the title of British Guiana.

This colony constitutes the diocese of Guiana.

BAHAMA ISLANDS.

These islands lie between Cuba and the coast of Florida on the North American continent. St. Salvador, one of the group, was discovered by Columbus in 1492. Being abandoned by the Spaniards the islands were occupied by the English in 1629, and in 1670 New Providence was granted by Chas. II. to a trading company. From 1703 to 1718 the islands were in the hands of the French and the Spaniards. In 1718 the British resumed possession of them, but surrendered them to the Spaniards in 1781. They were finally restored to Great Britain in 1783 by the Treaty of Versailles.

The Turks and Caicos Islands, which belong to the group, were separated from it by Letters Patent, Nov. 21, 1848, G., and placed under Jamaica. See "Jamaica," ante, p. 712.

The Bahama Islands were formerly a part of the diocese of Jamaica, but with the Turks and Caicos Islands were separated from it in 1861, and formed into the diocese of Nassau.

THE WINDWARD ISLANDS.
MARTINIQUE (now restored to France);
BARBADOS, TRINIDAD, AND TOBAGO,
(now separate Colonies);
AND
GRENADA, ST. VINCENT, and ST. LUCIA.

The Windward Islands are the most southern of the West Indian group, and are situated in the Caribbean Sea. Geographically they comprise all the islands above-named, besides some smaller dependencies; but the colonies now grouped together for the purpose of government under the name of the Windward Islands comprise Grenada, St. Vincent, and St. Lucia only.

Martinique was discovered by Columbus in 1493, and colonised by the French in 1635. It was taken by Great Britain in 1762, but restored to France by the Treaty of Paris in 1763. It was again taken by Great Britain in 1794, again restored to France at the Peace of Amiens in 1802–3; again taken by Great Britain in February 1809, and finally restored to France in 1815.

Barbados is believed to have been discovered by the Portuguese. It was colonised by the English in 1625, and has ever since continued one of the British possessions.

Trinidad is the most southerly of the West Indian Islands. It was discovered by Columbus in 1498, colonised by Spain in 1532, captured by Great Britain in 1797, and ceded to that country by the Treaty of Amiens in 1802–3.

Tobago was discovered by Columbus in 1498, but, as with many other of the Spanish discoveries, no attempt was made to colonise the island. It was claimed by the English in 1580, and some attempts made to colonise it, but these failed; and after various disputes concerning it between the English, French, and Dutch, the island was declared neutral by the treaty of Aix-la-Chapelle (1748). In 1763 it was ceded to England by the treaty of Paris, but on the renewal of hostilities it was captured by France in 1781, surrendered to France in 1783, captured by Great Britain in 1793, restored to France in 1802, recaptured by Great Britain in 1803, and ultimately ceded to that country in 1814.

GRENADA was discovered by Columbus in 1498, colonised by French settlers about 1650, annexed to France in 1674, captured by the British in 1762, and ceded to them by the treaty of Paris in 1763. It was re-taken by the French in 1779, but finally restored to Great Britain at the treaty of Versailles in 1783.

THE GRENADINES are a number of small islands lying between Grenada and St. Vincent. They are included in the government of one or other of those colonies.

ST. VINCENT was discovered by Columbus in 1498. It was granted by the kings of England, (by what authority it is rather hard to say), to James, Earl of Carlisle, in 1627; to William, Lord Willoughby of Parham, in 1672; and to John, Duke of Montagu, in 1722; the intervals being filled up by declarations of "neutrality" between England and France. In 1762 the island was taken possession of by the British, and was ceded to them by the treaty of Paris in 1763. It was surrendered to France in 1779 (Sept. 28, G.), and ultimately restored to Great Britain in 1783 by the treaty of Versailles.

ST. LUCIA was discovered by Columbus in 1502. Its possession was disputed between England and France with varying success from 1635 to 1763, when it was secured to France by the treaty of Paris. It was conquered by Great Britain in 1782, restored to France by the treaty of Versailles in 1783, surrendered to Great Britain in 1794, restored to France by the treaty of Amiens in 1802–3, again captured, and ever since retained, by Great Britain in 1803 (July 30, G.).

THE WINDWARD ISLANDS have from time to time been grouped together in various combinations for the purposes of government, and, for some years, Dominica, which is classed as one of the Leeward Islands, was joined with them. Some care is, therefore, necessary in searching the following lists of governors. In 1763 a governor was appointed for the "SOUTHERN CARIBBEE ISLANDS" of GRENADA, DOMINICA, ST. VINCENT, and TOBAGO. In 1833 (Feb. 13, G.), BARBADOS, ST. VINCENT, GRENADA, and TOBAGO were united under one governor resident at Barbados, with lieutenant-governors for the other islands, and ST. LUCIA was added to this federation in 1838. By Letters Patent (May 4, 1885, G.) the office of "Governor and Commander in Chief of the WINDWARD ISLANDS," eo nomine, was created, with jurisdiction over GRENADA, ST. VINCENT, TOBAGO, and ST. LUCIA. The governor was made resident at Grenada, and the other islands were placed under lieutenant-governors or administrators. BARBADOS thenceforth became a separate and independent colony. The government of Trinidad was generally distinct from that of the other islands, but, as will be seen below, was occasionally joined with them under one governor.

By 50 & 51 Vict. c. 44 (1877), and Order in Council dated Nov. 17, and gazetted Nov. 30, 1888, TOBAGO was separated from the WINDWARD ISLANDS, and as from Jan. 1, 1889, joined with TRINIDAD as one colony, to be called TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO.

The Windward Islands constitute the dioceses of BARBADOS and Trinidad.

THE LEEWARD ISLANDS.

ANTIGUA, MONTSERRAT, ST. CHRISTOPHER OR ST. KITTS, NEVIS, DOMINICA, VIRGIN ISLANDS, AND THEIR DEPENDENCIES.

The Leeward Islands lie to the north of the Windward Islands. They were discovered by Columbus during the last ten years of the fifteenth century. Besides those mentioned above, which belong to Great Britain, there are others belonging to France, Holland, and Denmark.

The British Leeward Islands were formed into one colony in 1871. as stated below.

Antigua was discovered by Columbus in 1493; colonised by the English in 1632; granted by Chas. II. to Fras., Lord Willoughby of Parham, in 1663; conquered by France in 1666, but reconquered by the English, and confirmed to them by the Treaty of Breda in 1667.

Barbuda and Redonda are dependencies of Antigua.

Montserrat was discovered by Columbus in 1493; colonised by the English in 1632 · taken by the French in 1664 ; restored to England in 1668, again captured by the French in 1782, and finally restored to Great Britain in 1784.

St. Christopher or St. Kitts and Nevis were discovered by Columbus in 1498, and colonised by the English in 1628.

Anguilla is a dependency of these islands.

Dominica was discovered by Columbus in 1493. It was included in the grant made by Jas. II. to Jas., Earl of Carlisle in 1627; but as the island lay between the French possessions of Guadaloupe and Martinique, the earl's right to it was disputed by France. By the Treaty of Aix-la-Chapelle (1748) the island was declared "neutral," but on the renewal of hostilities it was captured by the British in 1756, and ceded to them by the Treaty of Paris in 1763. It was retaken by the French in 1778, restored to Great Britain in 1783. once more captured by France in 1802, and finally restored to Great Britain in 1814. It was at one time joined, for administrative purposes, with some of the Windward Islands. See "Windward Islands," ante, pp. 717–8.

The Virgin Islands are a numerous group. St. Thomas, St. John, and St. Croix belong to Denmark, the rest being British. The principal British islands are Virgin Gorda, Anegada, Jost Van Dyke, Tortola, Bieques, and Peters Island.

These islands were discovered by Columbus in 1494, and the English settled in Tortola in 1666. St. Thomas and St. John were taken from Denmark in 1801, and again in 1807, but restored in 1802 and 1815.

The Leeward Islands were from time to time grouped together in various combinations under one governor, with lieutenant-governors for each separate island.

In 1871, under 34 & 35 Vict. cap. 107, and proclamation thereunder, Antigua, Montserrat, St. Christopher, Nevis, Dominica, and the, Virgin Islands were formed into six presidencies of one colony called the Leeward Islands, with power to include other West Indian Islands in the colony. St. Christopher and Nevis were afterwards united into one presidency by Colonial Act No. 2 of 1882.

The Leeward Islands constitute the greater part of the diocese of Antigua.

FALKLAND ISLANDS.

These islands lie in the South Atlantic Ocean, and occupy a position quite isolated from all other British colonies. They were discovered by John Davis in 1592, and after having nominally belonged to France and Spain they were finally taken possession of by Great Britain and colonised.

The islands form the missionary diocese of the Falkland Islands.

GOVERNORS OF THE FALKLAND ISLANDS.

From 1833 to 1842 the Settlement was in charge of a naval officer.

PART XIII. ORDERS OF KNIGHTHOOD.

ORDERS OF KNIGHTHOOD, &c., CONNECTED WITH THE BRITISH EMPIRE.

The Orders here dealt with comprise:

- The Garter.
- The Thistle.
- St. Patrick.
- The Bath.
- St. Michael and St. George.
- Guelphic Order.
- Star of India.
- Crown of India.
- Indian Empire.

Many works have been written upon Orders of Knighthood in general, and individual Orders in particular, but the best work on the British Orders is beyond doubt that of Sir Harris Nicolas, published in 1842–7 in four large volumes. The following lists have been carefully collated with, and corrected by, those given by Nicolas, and the Guelphic knights which were not given in the former editions of this work have been compiled entirely from his list.

The Indian Orders are of comparatively recent date, and can hardly yet be said to have a history. Reference is, therefore, simply given to the Letters Patent or Statutes creating or enlarging them.

THE ORDER OF THE GARTER.

The Garter is considered both the oldest and the most illustrious Order of Knighthood now existing, not only in this country but in the world. It was undoubtedly instituted by Edward III., but the time is uncertain, various dates from 1344 to 1351 being given by different writers. Sir Harris Nicolas, who is the latest and probably the most trustworthy authority, says, "Edward III. founded the Order in 1344, but did not completely establish it until between Oct. 12, 1347, and Aug. 1348."

The Order originally consisted of the Sovereign and twenty-five knights, and so continued until 1786, when the sons of Geo. III. were made eligible, notwithstanding the chapter being complete. In 1805 this privilege was extended to the lineal descendants of Geo. II. except the Prince of Wales for the time being, who was declared to be "a constituent part of the original institution;" and in 1831 it was further extended to the lineal descendants of Geo. I. The principal foreign sovereigns are frequently admitted by special statutes, which are also occasionally passed for the admission of extra knights. The latter are generally absorbed into the ordinary twenty-five as vacancies arise.

The officers of the Order are:

Prelate.
Chancellor.
Registrar.
King at Arms.
Usher.

The Order is styled—

The Most Noble Order of the Garter.

KNIGHTS OF THE GARTER.

(K.G.)

The reigning sovereign becomes, on his accession to the throne, the head of the Order. As a rule, he has previously been admitted a member of it.

THE ORDER OF THE THISTLE.

THE THISTLE is a Scotch Order. Like the Garter, the date of its institution is somewhat obscure. It is said by some to have been originally formed as far back as 787, and by others to have been founded in 1500, and revived in 1540. King James VII. of Scotland and II. of England, by warrant dated May 29, 1687, ordered Letters Patent to be made out for "reviving and restoring the Order of the Thistle to its full glory, lustre, and magnificency." At the same time a set of statutes and orders was passed for regulating the Order, and it is considered by Sir Harris Nicolas and some other writers that until this date the Order as an organized fraternity did not exist.

The Order remained in abeyance during the reign of William and Mary, but Queen Anne again revived it, by statutes and orders dated Dec. 31, 1703. These were subsequently modified by statutes of Geo. III. dated Feb. 17, 1715, and of Geo. IV. dated May 8, 1827, by the last of which the number of knights of the Order was extended from twelve to sixteen. Extra knights are occasionally admitted by special statute.

The officers of the Order are:

DEAN.
SECRETARY.
KING AT ARMS.
USHER.

The Order is styled—

THE MOST ANCIENT AND MOST NOBLE ORDER OF THE THISTLE.

KNIGHTS OF THE THISTLE.

THE ORDER OF ST. PATRICK.

THIS Order is of comparatively recent date, having been instituted by King Geo. III. by warrant dated Feb. 5, 1783, the statutes being signed on Feb. 28, and the first investiture being held on Mar. 11, 1783.

As originally constituted the Order consisted of the Sovereign, the grand master (the lord-lieutenant for the time being), and fifteen knights. The number of knights was temporarily increased by Geo. IV. and Wm. IV. at their coronations, and, in Jan. 1833, was permanently fixed at twenty-two.

The officers of the Order are or were:

Prelate.
Chancellor.
Registrar.
Secretary.
Genealogist (now discontinued).
King of Arms.
Usher.

The Order is styled—

The Most Illustrious Order of St. Patrick.

GRAND MASTERS OF THE ORDER OF ST. PATRICK.

1783, Feb. 5. Geo. Grenville, 3rd E. Temple, aft. M. of Rockingham; ld. lieut. of Ireland, and his successors.

See "Lord Lieutenants of Ireland," ante, p. 557.

THE ORDER OF THE BATH.

THIS ORDER is of very ancient origin. On the coronation of Hen. IV. "Knights of the Bath" were undoubtedly created eo nomine, and this year is frequently treated as being that of the foundation of the Order. It is, however, certain that the ceremonies of watching and bathing as a preparation for knighthood are of much more ancient origin, and were practised both in this country and in Germany from very early times. Sir Harris Nicolas begins his list in the reign of King John, but adds that it cannot be treated as accurate or complete until about the reign of Hen. VII.

From the reign of Hen. IV. to that of Chas. I. it was customary on the coronation of the sovereign or his queen, the creation of a prince of Wales, and other occasions of exceptional rejoicing, to create a number of Knights of the Bath. After the coronation of Chas. I., this practice was discontinued, and the Order remained in abeyance until it was revived and remodelled by Geo. I., who, by Statute dated May 18, 1725, decreed that the Order should consist of the Sovereign, a great master, and thirty-six companions.

In 1815 the Order was again remodelled and much enlarged, principally with the view of rewarding the services of the numerous military and naval officers engaged in the long war then terminating.

By Statute dated Jan. 2, 1815, the Order was made to consist of three Classes:—

I.—Knights Grand Cross—Not exceeding in number 72, exclusive of the Sovereign and princes of the blood Royal. Of these 72 a number not exceeding 12 might be appointed for civil services. All the then existing Knights of the Bath were to become Knights Grand Cross.

II.—Knights Commanders—Not at first to exceed in number 180, exclusive of foreign officers to the number of 10, but with power to increase the number in the event of future wars, &c.

III.—Companions—Number not limited.

As remodelled, the Bath remained a reward exclusively for military or naval services, except the 10 Civil Knights Grand Cross; but by Statute dated April 1, 1847, the Knights Commanders and the Companions were divided into two divisions, military and civil, and the numbers fixed as under:—

I.—Knights Grand Cross ...	Military	50	...	Civil	25
II.—Knights Commanders ...	„	123	...	„	80
III.—Companions	„	690	...	„	250

These numbers are exclusive of the Royal family, distinguished foreigners, and foreign officers. Power was also reserved to increase the number on special occasions.

The officers of the Order are or were:—

Great Master.
(Now filled by the Sovereign.)
Dean.
King of Arms.
Genealogist.
(Discontinued.)
Usher.
Registrar.
Secretary.
(Now united.)

The Order is styled

THE ORDER OF THE GUELPHS—HANOVER.

THIS Order was instituted on Aug. 12, 1815, to commemorate the raising of Hanover into a kingdom. The kings of England being also kings of Hanover, the Order was often conferred upon British subjects; but when, on the accession of Queen Victoria in 1837, the two kingdoms became separated, the Order thenceforth became entirely a foreign one.

The Order consisted of the King of Hanover as Sovereign and Grand Master, and of three classes of knights not limited in number—Knights Grand Cross, Knights Commanders, and Knights, each class being also sub-divided into civil and military divisions.

The officers of the Order were—

CHANCELLOR.
VICE-CHANCELLOR.
SECRETARY.
KING OF ARMS.

The Order was styled—

"THE ORDER OF THE GUELPHS."

The following lists are confined to British subjects, and stop on the separation of Hanover from England in 1837. Those entered as appointed by King Ernest of Hanover were nominated by William IV., who died before their appointments were completed.

MEMBERS OF THE ORDER OF THE GUELPHS.

Those marked "C" belong to the Civil Divisions.

KINGS OF ARMS.

1815, Aug. Geo. Nayler, aft. Sir G.; York and Blanc Coursier Her., and aft. Clarencieux and Garter K.A.; d. Oct. 28, 1831.

* * Augs. Neubourg.

THE ORDER OF ST. MICHAEL AND ST. GEORGE.

THIS ORDER has probably undergone more changes than any other. It was originally instituted by Statutes of Apr. 27, 1818, and was then confined to "natives of the United States, of the Ionian islands, and of the island of Malta and its dependencies, and to such other subjects of his Majesty as may hold high and confidential situation in the Mediterranean."

The Order at first consisted of the King of the United Kingdom as Sovereign, the Grand Master, 8 Knights Grand Cross (including the Grand Master), 12 Knights Commanders, and 24 Knights. It was enlarged by Statutes of Aug. 16, 1832, and then consisted of the Sovereign, who was also Grand Master, 15 Knights Grand Cross, 20 Knights Commanders, and 25 Companions. Under Letters Patent of Dec. 31, 1850, and Statutes of Jan. 31, 1851, the constitution of the Order was modified, but it still remained confined to the Ionian Islands and Malta.

The Ionian islands were ceded to Greece in 1863, and shortly afterwards the Order was completely reconstituted.

By Statutes of Dec. 4, 1868 (gazetted July 1, 1869), as modified by Statutes of Apr. 3, 1869 (gazetted July 1, 1869), the persons admissible into the Order were to be natural-born or naturalized British subjects who had held office in or rendered services in relation to the Colonies. By the same Statutes the Order was declared to consist of the Sovereign, the Grand Master, 25 Knights Grand Cross, 60 Knights Commanders, and 100 Companions, with power to the Sovereign to appoint extra members of the first and second classes, and to increase the numbers of each class.

By Statutes of May 30, 1877, (gazetted same day), the numbers were increased to 35 Knights Grand Cross, 120 Knights Commanders, and 200 Companions, with power to appoint extra and honorary members.

By Statutes of May 24, 1879, the Order was extended to reward services rendered to the Crown in relation to foreign affairs, and the numbers were again increased to 50 Knights Grand Cross, 150 Knights Commanders, and 260 Companions, power to appoint extra members and to increase the numbers being still reserved to the Sovereign. By Statute of June 28, 1886, 8 Knights Commanders and 9 Companions were added as additional members, and by a later Statute of Mar. 21, 1887, these were made ordinary members, the numbers of the Order being increased to this extent.

The officers of the Order now are—

PRELATE.
CHANCELLOR.
SECRETARY.
KING OF ARMS.
REGISTRAR.
OFFICER OF ARMS.

The Order is styled—

THE MOST DISTINGUISHED ORDER OF ST. MICHAEL AND ST. GEORGE.

THE ORDER OF THE STAR OF INDIA.

This Order was instituted by Letters Patent dated Feb. 23, 1861 (gazetted June 25, 1861), and is, as its name implies, essentially an Order connected with the British Empire in India. As originally constituted the Order consisted of the Sovereign, a Grand Master, and 25 Knights, together with such extra and honorary knights as the Sovereign should appoint, with power to confer the Order on native princes and chiefs of India. The Viceroy of India for the time being was made ex-officio Grandmaster of the Order.

By Letters Patent dated March 28, 1866 (gazetted May 25, 1866), the Order was reconstituted so as to consist of the Sovereign, the Grand Master, 25 Knights Grand Commanders, 50 Knights Commanders, and 100 Companions, with power to appoint extra and honorary members.

The constitution of the Order was again extended in 1875 and 1876, and now consists of the Sovereign, the Grand Master, 30 Knights Grand Commanders, 72 Knights Commanders, and 144 Companions, with power to appoint extra and honorary members as before.

The Statutes enable the Sovereign to confer the dignity of Knight Grand Commander upon princes and chiefs of India who have entitled themselves to the Royal favour, and upon such British subjects as have by important and loyal services rendered by them to the Indian Empire, merited the Royal favour; and to confer the dignity of Knight Commander and Companion upon persons who by their conduct or services in the Indian Empire have merited the Royal favour.

The officers of the Order are—

Registrar. Secretary.

The Order is styled—

The Most Exalted Order of the Star of India.

MEMBERS OF THE ORDER OF THE STAR OF INDIA.

GRAND MASTERS OF THE ORDER OF THE STAR OF INDIA.

1861. June 25. Chas. Jno., visc. Canning, Viceroy of India, and his successors in that office.

1885. Hy. Mortimer Durand, aft. sir H.

THE ORDER OF THE INDIAN EMPIRE.

This Order was instituted on Jan. 1, 1878, by Royal warrant dated Dec. 31, 1877. It is intended to reward services rendered to the Queen's Indian Empire, and to commemorate Her Majesty's adoption of the title of Empress.

As originally constituted the Order consisted of the Sovereign, the Grand Master, and Companions only. The Viceroy of India for the time being was ex-officio Grand Master, and Members of the Council of India were ex-officio and for life Companions of the Order.

By Letters Patent dated August 2, 1886, (gazetted Feb. 15, 1887), the constitution of the Order was altered so as to consist of the Sovereign, the Grand Master, 50 Knights Commanders, and Companions not limited in number. Power was given to appoint descendants of Geo. I. as extra Knights Commanders.

By Letters Patent dated June 1, 1887, (gazetted June 21, 1887), the constitution of the Order was further altered, and it now consists of the Sovereign, the Grand Master, 25 Knights Grand Commanders, 50 Knights Commanders, and Companions not limited in number, with power to the Sovereign to appoint any prince of the blood royal being descendants of Geo. I. as extra Knights Grand Commanders.

The officers of the Order are—

Registrar. Secretary.

The Order is styled—

JUDGE-ADVOCATES GENERAL.

The Judge-Advocate General and Judge Martial of all the Forces is an officer of considerable responsibility. He is the legal adviser of the sovereign and of the commander-in-chief in military cases, and by his authority all general courts-martial are held. In his office are deposited the originals of all such proceedings, and on his receipt of them they are examined, and either deposited as correct, or communicated upon, or submitted by the Judge Advocate General to Her Majesty for royal approval, or for pardon, or revision, as, in the opinion of this officer, the case may require.

The office has for many years been a political one, the holder resigning on a change of ministry.

JUDGE-ADVOCATES GENERAL.

Down to 1847 the dates are those of the actual entrance upon office, not of the appointment, which is usually a few days earlier; or of the patent, commonly some days later than those adopted in this list. From 1847 the dates are those of the Gazette notices of the appointment.

INDEX OF NAMES.

The names appear in this Index, as in the body of the work, according to the actual style or title of the official at the date of his appointment to each particular office. Cross references are given to each of his prior or subsequent titles, provided his name appears in the body as holding office whilst enjoying that title :—ex. gr.

Pole, Hon. Wm. Well., aft. ld. Maryborough and 3rd E. of Mornington, q.v., P.C. 208; C. Treas. Ir. 561; Ch. Ex. Ir. 561; Ch. Sec. Ir. 563.
Maryborough, Wm., ld., form. Hon. W. W. Pole, q.v., aft. 3rd E. of Mornington, q.v.; L.T. 160; M.B.H. 303; Postm. G. 238.
Mornington, Wm., 3rd E. of, form. Hon. W. W. Pole and ld. Maryborough, q.v., G.C.H. 786.

Therefore, to obtain a complete list of all the offices held by each person, reference must be made to each title.

It is believed that, except in the case of cross references, each entry refers to a separate and distinct person. Cases of doubtful identity are noted thus :—

* Michael, bp. Clr. 596.
* ——— bp. Gall. 538.
* Prob. same pers.

* Methven, Jno., Ld. Chanc. Ir. 576.
* ——— Jno., M. Chy. 396.
* ? same pers.

Some observations will be found in the Preface as to the variations in spelling, particularly amongst the earlier names. As far as possible the risk of a fruitless search for a name actually in the Index has been avoided, either by grouping the names under the most usual mode of spelling with cross references to the others, ex. gr.

MacGregor and MacGrigor

MacGrigor, see MacGregor

or by cross references only, ex. gr.

Marston, see also Merston

The former mode is adopted where it was found that the name of the same person had been variously spelt in different parts of the book; the latter where it was found that although the name itself was spelt differently, the name of each person bearing it was spelt alike throughout.

The variations in spelling are, however, so numerous that the reader must, to some extent, rely on himself, and, if he cannot find a name under the expected heading, try under some other letter frequently substituted for it; ex. gr.—I. and J., I. and Y., U. and V., Æ. and E., are frequently used indifferently both at the beginning and in the middle of a name. The names of the earlier ecclesiastical and legal dignitaries are sometimes used in their English and sometimes in their Latin form. Emperors, Kings, &c., and also Royal Princes are entered under their Christian names; but where English Princes have been created Dukes or Earls, they are entered under their later titles also.

Where a name applies both to surnames and to titles of nobility, the latter are grouped together at the end of the former ;—e.x. gr.

Gordon, Wm.

Considerations of space have necessitated the use of the shortest possible abbreviation of each dignity. Wherever practicable, a form has been adopted the meaning of which is obvious, but, to provide for any case of difficulty or uncertainty, a complete list of the abbreviations is here given.
